—County Road Superintendent E. S. Smith of Youngstown is making preparations to have work started early in the spring on all roads to be improved in this county this year. This will prevent the dragging out of contracts until cold weather sets in when satisfactory work cannot be done.

—John F. Moore, a civil war veteran and farmer residing in Goshen township died last week of an illness of nearly three years of dropsy of the heart. He is survived by his wife and four children. Funeral services Sunday afternoon were in charge of Treseott Post, G. A. R., of Salem.

—J. B. Beard, who served as postmaster in Newton Falls under the second Cleveland administration, last week again assumed the duties of postmaster, succeeding C. E. Fenton, who served 18 continuous years. He was appointed by President McKinley and entered upon his official duties Jan. 1, 1898.

—Wm. H. Klingensmith, who for many years conducted a bakery in Newton Falls, fell dead last Saturday of heart disease. When taken ill he started for his home and had just entered the door when death claimed him. His wife, four daughters and one son survive him. Funeral services were held Tuesday forenoon.

—A large quantity of nitro-glycerine exploded one day last week near Olmstead Falls, Cuyahoga county, and the shock was felt for 50 miles. Property damage was large in Berea, four miles away. The man in charge of the explosive was blown to atoms and a little of the automobile he occupied could be found. A great hole in the ground marked the spot of the explosion.

—A double wedding took place at the Congregational parsonage in Ravenna last week Thursday afternoon. Clyde B. Kale of Milton, O., and Martha Pearl Jenkins of Palmyra were united in marriage and at the same time Edward E. Beech of Mantua and a sister of Miss Jenkins, Miss Orine Jenkins, were married. The double ceremony was performed by Rev. I. J. Swanson of the Congregational church.

—Mrs. J. J. Thompson of Lordstown, well known in Canfield, died very suddenly last week Thursday evening. She had spent the day with relatives in Vienna seemingly in the best of health. On her way home she stopped to call on a neighbor and while chatting pleasantly was stricken with apoplexy. She was taken to Niles and died within five minutes after reaching a doctor's office. Deceased was a daughter of the late Rev. Stranahan and aged 67 years. She is survived by her husband, one sister and two brothers. Funeral services were held in Lordstown last Sunday forenoon.

—A Mettler, superintendent of the Menomonee Orphans' Home at West Liberty, O., formerly of East Lewis-town, writes: "Herewith find check for renewal of subscription to the indispensable Dispatch. It is more than 15 years since I began administering the affairs of this charitable institution as superintendent. The work at times has been strenuous and I feel that I am on the downward grade—my life wearing out. At present I have under my care 94 people, including inmates and workers, for whose existence I am held responsible so far as board, clothing, education, etc., are concerned. We have a few cases of whooping cough and measles among the children."

—Mrs. Rachel Stalmsmith, aged 73, died last week Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. L. Kenneigh, in Ravenna, of paralysis of the heart, following an attack of grip. Deceased was a daughter of John and Mary Stutler and was born in Goshen township July 24, 1842. Her husband was Hiram Stalmsmith and most of her life was spent in Mahoning county. Last November she went to Ravenna to visit her daughter, Mrs. Kenneigh, at whose home she died. She leaves besides her daughter one son, Charles Stalmsmith, of Ellsworth township. Funeral services were held last Saturday and the remains were taken to the Bunker Hill cemetery in Goshen township for burial.

My Paw said so.
Bears can turn flip-flops, an' climb ellum trees.
My Paw said so.
An' they don't mind the honey away from the bees.
My Paw said so.
An' they don't mind the winter, coz they never freeze.
My Paw said so.
Girls is nakared of a snake, but boys ain't.
My Paw said so.
They holler an' run; an' sometimes they faint.
My Paw said so.
But boys 'ud be 'shamed to be frightened that way.
My Paw said so.
When all that the snake wants to do is to play.
My Paw said so.
You've got to believe every word that I say.

PARKER GUEST OF BAR ASSOCIATION

Is Opposed to Appointment of the Judiciary by Governors.

Columbus, Feb. 23.—From the same platform yesterday in the chapel of the state university Judge Alton B. Parker of New York and Dr. Washington Gladden took diametrically opposite positions as to military preparedness on the part of the United States. "Washington and His Birthday" was Judge Parker's subject and "The Traditional and the Real Washington" that of Rev. Dr. Gladden, but both rounded to the great issue of the day—national defense—before they concluded. Judge Parker is the head of the National Security league, with headquarters in New York, while Dr. Gladden is known as a pacifist. Dr. Gladden proposed that the nation carry out the request of the great Washington by establishing the National Washington university as a belated memorial to him, with endowments for scholarships, instead of building great dreadnaughts. Through education he believed that great progress might be made toward universal peace. Judge Parker urged that a strong and well balanced navy be provided at once, with an ample supply of submarines and aeroplanes for national defense and preventing a possible invasion of the country by an enemy. Dr. Gladden admitted that the vice of Washington that the United States hold itself aloof from Europe was not now practicable. It would do for the America of Washington's time, but not for this time. In an address before the local bar association before his university address Judge Parker spoke against the appointment of the judiciary by governors. "The people may make mistakes," said he, "but they are no more likely to do so than the governor."

Will Sue on Bills.

Having run out of tags and not being in a position to get any more because of the refusal of Auditor of State Donahy to pay the bills for the tags, the state automobile department will issue license certificates to applicants instead of tags. Donahy declares that the contract made by Secretary of State Hildebrandt with the Davies Manufacturing Co. of Akron was irregular, and so he has held up the bills of that concern, which amount to nearly $22,000. The company has delivered more than 100,000 sets of tags, but will furnish no more until paid. As a result of the controversy the legislature may provide for the manufacture of the tags by penitentiary inmates. It is reported that Senator Charles W. Wickline of Akron, president of the company which has the tag contract, will bring suit against Donahy for the bills claimed due from the state. Persons who purchase automobiles now will run the risk of being arrested for not having tags. They will probably be able to escape being fined for violating the law by showing the certificate which the state department will issue upon receipt of an application for a license.

Time Almost Up.

The time limit for the filing of declarations of candidates for delegates to the national convention expires on the 25th. The state says that they must be filed at least 60 days before the date of the primary, which is the 25th Tuesday in April—this year April 25. Secretary of State Hildebrandt says he will take certificates up to the close of the 25th inst. Not a single certificate has been filed with him, nor, as far as ascertained, with any of the boards of elections in the districts. The candidate for delegates and alternates at large must file here, the district delegates and alternates in the districts.

Wants State Property Insured.

C. C. Philbrick, member of the administration board, is agitating the question of the insurance of state property. The burning of the laundry at the state hospital at Massillon raises the question. The state has always carried its own insurance on state buildings.

Postpone Dedication.

The contract for the monument to be erected over the grave of Gov. Thomas Kirker, second chief executive of Ohio, located in Kirker cemetery, Adams county, by the state, has been awarded to the Hughes Granite Co. of Clyde, O. The graves of the governor's mother and his wife, which are near his resting place, will be designated by markers which will be purchased by residents of the county. Memorial day was set for the unveiling of the monument, but it has been found necessary to postpone the event until some time in the early summer.

Will Answer Charges.

Accompanied by a dozen or more witnesses, Russell M. Wilson, Republican member of the Summit county liquor licensing board, will appear before the state liquor license commission in answer to charges filed against him alleging that he was intoxicated while on duty. He will deny that there is any ground for the charges and hopes to be able to clear himself through the testimony he will offer. He is the first licensee to be haled before the state board on charges of the kind.

In order to make trouble it is generally necessary to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.
